

Who, What, When, How...and Why: Women Scientists, the Media, and the Science Service Collections at the Smithsonian Institution Archives

Marcel Chotkowski LaFollette

March 18, 2014

Accession 90-105

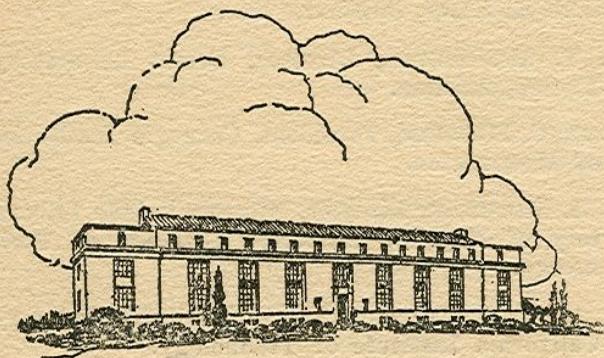

Smithsonian Institution Archives

Science
Service
brochure,
ca. 1924

Smithsonian
Institution
Archives,
RU7091

SCIENCE SERVICE

The Institution for the Popularization of Science

In the building of the National Academy of Sciences and National Research Council, 21st and B Sts. N.W.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Minna Gill,
Science Service
librarian during the 1920s and 1930s

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2008-1951

?

Margaret Mead (1901-1978), talking to journalists in 1968. Smithsonian Institution Archives SIA2008-5980

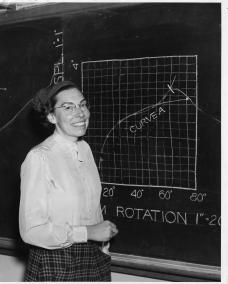

Katharine J. Scott
Bishop
(1889-1976)

Smithsonian Institution
Archives

SIA2009-3085

Miriam Elizabeth
Simpson

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-3384

Elizabeth M.
Bright

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2008-0032

British botanist Kathleen Beyer Blackburn

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2007-0252

Cornell University
mycologist
Grace Agnes
Peterson

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-1436

Australian plant pathologist

Eileen R.L. Reed

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-2119

Australian plant pathologist

Eileen R.L. Reed

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-2118

Science Service
medical editor
Jane Stafford

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-0885

Science Service
psychology
editor Marjorie
Van de Water

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA 2009-0887

Science Service
writer Marjorie
MacDill Breit

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA 2008-5654

Science Service
writer Emily
Cleveland Davis

Smithsonian
Institution Archives
SIA2009-2832

Science Service writer Emma Reh

Smithsonian Institution Archives SIA 2009-0884

